Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2006065250A1] Data interchange is performed by opening a document (121,122,103) having a tagged information including data tags and data. The data, such as data associated with data fields is updated. The updated data is stored (110) and/or transmitted, electronically (112) and/or using the target. For example, the target can be a bar code which can be printed.
