Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1870217A2] The method involves placing face concrete and stone concrete in respective mold areas for manufacturing a floor slab (1) and grouting the concrete with a press stamp after placing the stone concrete. A press mold designed as a multiple mold with multiple individual molds is applied for simultaneous manufacturing of multiple slabs. Each individual mold is implemented at surfaces forming top side, boundary region and/or circumferential side (5) of the respective floor slab in a different manner.
