Abstract (en)

The present invention relates to a system for the mounting of information-carrying labels and/or electronic information carriers on the front of a shelf. This system comprises at least one profiled strip (1), at least one intermediate profile and a holder for said information-carrying labels and/or electronic information carriers. The intermediate profile is, on the one hand, provided to be releasably mounted on said connecting part (2) and, on the other hand, provided to attach said one or more holders releasably to this intermediate profile. In addition, the intermediate profile can be mounted on the connecting part (2) at two or more angles in order to achieve different viewing directions.
