Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2006105561A1] The invention relates to a liquid container, especially for drinks or mouthwash, comprising a removable closing element, for example a bottle with a screw top, and at least one volume that is not filled by the liquid. The aim of the invention is to provide one such container which is hygienic and easy to handle, and enables the user to have a frequent dental care routine without being dependent on outlets selling dental care items and on a supply of liquid. To this end, a toothbrush (Z), or at least the head (5) thereof, is provided in a volume of the liquid container (B) or the closing element (3), which is not normally filled with liquid.
