Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2006115500A1] A refrigerated case (20) has a base (30) and a number of supports (91, 92, 93) extending upward from the base. A number of structural uprights (70, 72, 74) are coupled to the supports. The rear supports are positioned to permit a back-to-back positioning of pair of such refrigerated cases. When so-positioned, the left end (26) of each case is substantially aligned with the right end (28) of the other case and the rear supports of each case are in a nested relationship with the rear supports of the other case.
