Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2006124268A2] A facility for creating shareable pinboard collections is described. In various embodiments, the facility receives an indication of a query defining a term for searching, employs a search provider to perform a search for information items matching a criteria, receives from the search provider an indication of a result corresponding to the query, creates a shareable pinboard collection, receives via a single action an indication to add the result to the shareable pinboard collection, and shares the shareable pinboard collection with a recipient.
