Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2007000153A1] The invention relates to a double dispenser for the alternating dispensing of disposable paper. To this end, the double dispenser comprises dispenser units that are arranged without being laterally offset from one another and have at least approximately the same dispensing direction (32, 132). Each dispenser unit comprises: a stack magazine for accommodating a folded paper web; an advancing unit for conveying the paper web out of the stack magazine for further use; a detaching device for detaching the disposable paper towels (76, 175) from the paper web, and; a dispensing unit (81, 181) for dispensing the detached disposable paper towels (75, 175) from the dispenser. In addition, the distance of both dispensing units (81, 181) from one another is less than 300 millimeters. This invention has developed a double dispenser that has a high level of reliability and is easy and safe to operate.
