Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2007019835A1] The invention relates to a folding top for a convertible, comprising a rod assembly (8) and a top (4, 19) which is mounted on the rod assembly (8). In order to create a modular folding top concept, the rod assembly (8) is provided with a fastening base that is designed for mounting different tops (4, 19). Furthermore, one respective top (4, 19) that is selected among a group of at least two tops which are formed differently especially regarding the movement functionalities thereof while having the same connecting dimensions is mounted on the fastening base to complete the folding top.
