Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1918099A1] The marking device has multiple printing units arranged behind one another and if necessary one or more lacquering systems. Every printing unit has a form cylinder, a transferring cylinder, a sheet guide cylinder formed as counter printing cylinder, a color deck and a damping unit. One or more laser marking devices are arranged above the closed available space of the sheet delivery, which are operated by an opening in the upper protection of the printed sheet carried by the conveying system. The upper protection surrounds the available space of the sheet delivery.
