Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2007021147A1] Disclosed herein is a vacuum cleaner. The vacuum cleaner comprises a main body (10), a dust container (20) installed to the main body, and a handle (30) formed at an outer periphery of the dust container (20) and having a fastening part (31) to allow the dust container (20) to be detachably fastened to the main body (10). The fastening part (31) is formed to the handle 30 of the dust container (20) such that the dust container (20) is easily mounted in or separated from the main body (10) of the vacuum cleaner, and cannot be unintentionally separated from the main body (10) of the vacuum cleaner, thereby preventing a floor from being soiled by contaminants due to an accidental opening of the dust container, and thus enhancing convenience of a user.
