Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2007033970A1] The invention relates to a bristle strip (10) for a vacuum-cleaner floor nozzle, having a carrier element (12) and having bristles (14), with the carrier element (12) and the bristles (14) being of integral design. In order to provide a bristle strip which can be produced in a particularly cost-effective manner and is optimum in terms of functionality, the invention provides that the carrier element (12) is made from a hard component and the bristles (14) are made from a soft component. The invention also relates to a vacuum-cleaner floor nozzle having a bristle strip (10) according to the invention.
