Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1936037A1] The cultivation compressor has an upper part (12) for coupling on an excavator arm and a lower part (14) with an unbalance generator. A connecting device (62) connects the upper part with the lower part in elastic moving direction. A fixed connecting arm (52) is arranged on the lower part extending upto the upper part. The fixed connecting arm is connected with the upper part by another connecting device (70) at a height, which lies in vertical operating position at a distance (D) over the former connecting device.
