Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1936758A2] Pluggable connector has at least four contacts with feed lines screened relative to further contacts with feed lines within the pluggable connector. At least two paired, associated contacts of the contacts and feed lines within the pluggable connector, are separately screened together with their feed lines, so that a screening or each screening (7) provided in the pluggable connector contains only two such associated contacts with feed-lines.
