Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1939536A2] The hood has a collecting channel (10) including a bent part having two opposing end side walls and two opposing longitudinal side walls formed on a single piece of sheet-metal, where the collecting channel is placed on a housing (2) below a filter (6) and collects the liquid e.g. water, emerging from the filter. The collecting channel is a separate part mountable to the housing, where the collecting channel holds the filter. The side walls of the collecting channel are separated by a gap, where one of the side walls is folded to form a double-layer and the other wall covers the gap.
