Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2007036970A1] The invention relates to a multimedia publication, (1) in which a book or other publication (2) on printed paper is combined with a display device (3). By reading with an optical reading or magnetic pen (4) the words or symbols printed in the book (2), the user is able to access with the display device (3) information and additional contents stored on a medium provided in the said device. In this way it is possible to provide a portable publication which offers the reader tactile and olfactory sensations which are typical of printed paper in addition to a large amount of additional information.
