Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2006131512A2] The present disclosure relates to agents which bind to glycoprotein VI (GPVI) protein or sequences thereof. More particularly, though without limitation, the invention concerns agents which bind one or more epitopes of human GPVI. The invention also relates to certain epitopes of human GPVI, methods of identifying or screening agents which bind to the epitopes. The invention also relates to the use of agents for treatment or prevention of diseases arising from processes of blood platelet aggregation, as well as other subject matter.
