Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1949810A2] The surface fastener has a base structure (10) of assembled threads. Multiple fastening elements (12) are provided, which are manufactured on the base structure and are formed on the assembled threads. A part of the assembled thread consists of a thread system (14) for the base structure and the fastening element. The fastening element has two different types of neighboring threads (16,18,24,26) associated with each other.
