Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1952727A2] The cushion has column-like projections (3) arranged and projected from a center plate (1) depending on two sides of the plate, where the cushion is made of a foam material. The plate has openings (2) through which the column-like projections are pushed. The projections have slots that are held in an area of the openings. The plate is made of a hard foam material to form projections, which are designed as a cuboid, cylinder or ball.
