Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1956324A2] The refrigerator has a tray (1) placed inside a refrigerator inner region at a predetermined height and removable from the inner region. Side walls of the refrigerator are provided with devices for pushing or applying the tray in the inner region of the refrigerator. A plastic engaging device (5) that can be manually actuated is attached to the tray for fixing the tray positioned in the inner region. The tray is in effective connection with a counter piece that is attached to the inner region.
