Abstract (en)
A shower seat (2) includes a heating element (8) for warming the seat. A power supply (10) for the heating element is connected to a controller (16). In addition, a switch (12) for detecting whether the seat (2) is in a seating position or a storage position is connected to controller (16). Controller (16) controls power supply (10) to turn the heating element (8) on when the seat is moved from the storage position to the seating position.
