Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1961640A2] The device (10) has a high pressure cleaning unit i.e. vacuum cleaner (12), attached to a hand cart (11), and a locking device arranged at the hand cart with a locking element. The locking element is moved against a restoring force from a locking position into a release position. The cleaning unit is locked at the hand cart in the locking position of the locking element and removed from the hand cart in the release position. The locking element is fixed with the cleaning unit in the release position, where the cleaning unit is positioned on the hand cart.
