Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2007072384A2] A reading device for reading data from a removable record carrier (11). The device comprises reading means (21, 22, 25) for reading the data recorded on the record carrier and control means (20) for controlling the reading. Further, the device comprises file retrieval means (31). The retrieval of data is independent from the file system under which the data were recorded; it is independent from the file system data on the record carrier. Moreover, for the retrieval, the record carrier does not have to be mounted under control of any file system.
