Abstract (en)
Display box (1) which is formed from a single sheet with a lower part (2) which serves to form a base and an upper part (3) used to form the upper closure, with both parts joined, which facilitates both its manufacture and handling, with the upper part provided for this purpose with lateral sections (5) which in the lower part show cut trapezoidal forms (12), with the central trapezoidal main section of the large sections provided with a folded tear line (11) which serves initially to fit the upper part on the lower part, ensuring that the trapezoidal cut parts fit in the interior space of the base and forming a double wall, and subsequently having formed the box, if the tear line is torn, both parts may be separated.
