Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1800645A1] The packaging (10) has a substrate (14) equipped with one or several preassembled, closed product carriers (16), which contain multiple, individual medicinal products (11) for a defined period of time, and provided with instructions for application and/or the administration time for the patient. Each product carrier contains exclusive products of a special active substance or a special active substance combination in a special dosage. An independent claim is also included for a method for production of packaging.
