Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1953458A1] The method involves feeding a cleaning fluid, particularly under high pressure into an inner space by a circulating device, which is in active connection with a fluid feeding device (7). The cleaning fluid is fed partly, particularly under high pressure into another inner space by another circulating device, which is in active connection with another fluid feeding device : An independent claim is also included for a cooking device for executing a cleaning method.
