Abstract (en)
A coin-operated user-operable entertainment machine, is actuated by credit of a stake value, for play of a game routine whereby an award is made in the event that the routine results in a winning outcome. The machine has a display device (9) for display of the game routine, and the machine has a user-selectable gamble option, which, when selected, uses the winning outcome to provide a final outcome. An indication (19) of the likelihood of obtaining a designated final outcome is provided on the display device (9). The indication (19) may be a percentage indication of the likelihood of obtaining the designated final outcome, and this may be displayed in the form of a pie chart.
