Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2007093743A2] The invention concerns a method and a device for providing multimedia data when setting up a telephone call. The terminal being connected via Internet to a platform (9) for providing multimedia data, a call is transmitted (4) to a call server (5) which blocks the call, then notifies the call event (6) to the platform (9). The latter downloads multimedia data into the terminal (3), the server (5) releasing the call to the terminal (3) when the multimedia data are downloaded. The invention is in particular useful for providing additional services when setting up phone calls.
