Abstract (en)
[origin: US2008280132A1] The insulating tape has a backing layer, which has two opposite sides, and segments of an insulating layer of rigid insulation material, which are attached adhesively to the first side of the backing layer. The segments of the insulating layer are separated from each other by incisions arranged at predetermined intervals and are connected to each other by the backing layer. The backing layer has a self-adhesive property on the second side.
