Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1995077A1] The perforation device (10a) has a roller arrangement (7a) with pointed perforation projections projecting from a roller upper surface of a perforation roller area for perforating the background. The roller arrangement has a drive roller area for driving the perforation roller area in a rotating manner. The perforation roller area and the drive roller area have different rolling speeds on the background so that the perforation roller area perforates the background in a tearing manner.
