Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2003061A1] The continuous lockable folding box (100) is made from a carton with at least one original lock and which has a cover flap (111) with a mounting latch (113) that enables it to be adjustably closable. The folding box is located in the inner holder (112) whilst the mounting latch has a detaching latch (116) via an individual break line (117). The holder may be built as a holding member that may be clamped with the cover flap with opposite-lying wide trunk field (102). The holding member may have a recess (121) at the centre in the region of the fold line (120).
