Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2007109839A1] A panel attachment clip (200) includes a rail attachment member (211) and a panel engagement member (201), the panel engagement member and the rail attachment member being relatively movable to adjust the distance between the panel and the rail by virtue of a pair of adjustment posts (218) and associated slots (222) on the panel engagement member which align with threaded holes (214) on the rail attachment member. Screws (215) are used to lock the clip in the required position.
