Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2017082A1] The method involves detecting a periodic status signal (29) of a marking element, and optically detecting a portion of a continuous web i.e. printing web, and converting into data (11). The data is stored to synchronize a respective origin of an exact repeating pattern with subsequent repeating pattern and/or similarly formed printing web. A grey vector (19) and/or a color vector (20) are estimated by the optical detection of the printing web.
