Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2017425A2] The window frame construction comprises a window frame (1) made of a solid material, particularly wood and a casement projection is provided at the window frame. A profile part (3) is attached at the window frame by casement projection. A groove (4) is provided in the window frame for receiving the profile part, in which a projection (5) of the profile part is engaged for producing a mechanical connection.
