Abstract (en)
[origin: DE102006024739A1] The domestic appliance (1) such as domestic oven has an operator control and or display PCB (2) which is arranged in an accommodation region (3). The operator control and or display printed circuit board (2) is pressed firmly against a further component (4) such as the lower face of a glass-ceramic hob or an operator control panel in the mounted state. A receptacle is arranged in the accommodation region (3). The receptacle (5) has several spring elements (6) which support the operator control and or display printed circuit board with the face averted from the further component (4).
