Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2025416A1] The method involves transmitting a computer operated description (Be) of a quantity from a data processing system (1) of dispatcher to another data processing system (2) connected with the sorting system (10). The description comprises a reference image (S-Abb) of the objects from the line of vision. The reference image of the object is valid each object of the quantity. The reference image does not contain description in an aiming point. An independent claim is included for a device for transporting a mass of objects, particularly mails.
