Abstract (en)

A protective element (1) for a product (9) such as a furniture or an appliance during its handling, which incorporates fold lines (3a-3c) and a belt (2), in such a manner that the product is protected by surrounding it with the belt tightened around. The protective element has recesses (8) and a minor height in the lateral areas (5) than in the central areas (4), in such a manner that it allows the manipulation and grip of the product during the handling.
