Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2031152A1] The system (20) has a base module (22) and two sanitary modules (24), where each module has two closable passages (26). The base module and the sanitary modules are arranged in parallel in such a manner that the base module and the sanitary modules are connected with each other by opened passages (26). One of the sanitary modules is formed as a sanitary unit for men, and the other sanitary module is formed as a sanitary unit for women. Sanitary attachments are arranged in an equipment room, which is limited by an intermediate wall and a maintenance opening that is accessible from outer side.
