Abstract (en)

The machine comprises a plurality of treatment sectors (3, 5, 7) rotating about at least one axis (X) of rotation, arranged in series along a feed path of the fabric (T). There is also provided a respective transfer system (19) of the fabric between consecutive treatment sectors, to transfer the fabric along the feed path from a sector upstream to a sector downstream. The or each transfer system (19) is designed to reduce the torsion induced in the fabric by rotation of the sector upstream with respect to the transfer system.
