Abstract (en)
This invention is related to a glass holding unit designed to allow glasses of various forms such as goblet and long bodied glass to be washed in dishwasher baskets. This unit contains one support element (2) and two connection apparatuses (3). Support element (2) can stand at different positions; thus allowing glasses of various forms and sizes to be placed. In cases where it is not desired to be used, in order not to prevent the placement of goods such as dish etc. in the basket, support element (2) can be completely closed and passivated.
