Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2036775A2] The system has a sidewall covering component (1), which has projection (4) formed as catch noses (4.1). The side wall covering components adjacent to both sides for the locking connection with the catch noses possess exactly dimensional catch pocket aligned on the catch noses. One of the two types of side wall covering components has fastening element (6) for mounting the side wall covering components at a body shell and is provided as stationary part. The other type of the side wall covering component has no fastening element and is provided as plug-in part.
