Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2037037A1] An improved machine (1) for the cleaning of flexible laminar surfaces including a support framework (2), which receives the flexible laminar surface and stands on a support structure (S), and cleaning means (3), facing the support framework (2), cooperating by contact with the laminar surface in order to remove impurities, dust and/or the like from the laminar surface itself. The improved machine (1) comprises regeneration means (4) operatively connected with the cleaning means (3) in order to clean the cleaning means (3) themselves from impurities, dust or the like previously removed by them from the flexible laminar surface.
