Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2042344A2] The method involves impregnating stretched fiber material or paper web (50) with a resin, particularly with an amino plastic. The stretched fiber material or paper web is also impregnated with heat hardening synthetic resin for e.g. with melamine resin, particularly in an inline method after printing in certain areas. Independent claims are included for the following: (1) a method for producing a laminate; (2) a manufacturing device for producing a coating element; and (3) a device for producing of laminate.
