Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2008012182A2] The present application relates to compositions for colouring keratinic fibres and which comprise at least one colour precursor and at least one constituent of a plant of the Butyrospermum type. The compositions according to the invention markedly improve the health status of the fibres as soon as the actual colouring procedure takes place; in particular, a marked improvement of the "texture" of the wet, but also the dry, hair is observed.
