Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2007150049A2] This present invention relates to the field of protecting against, or rectifying the effects of damaging ionizing irradiation. The method of treatment involves oral administration of a lactoferrin composition, alone or in combination with other treatments, both in combination with other radio-protective agents and/or the standard of care. Further, the method of treatment provides for a topical administration of lactoferrin to treat lesions caused by local damaging irradiation.
