Abstract (en)

[origin: DE202006013289U1] The saddle (1) has a saddle structure with seat upholstery on it. The seat upholstery has two protrusions (5, 6) from the saddle base surface (2) separated by recess (7) in the resting region for the rider's posterior. The protrusions and recess are so shaped that the rider's coccyx is relieved during riding, because the rider's ischium is more fully supported by the upholstery.
