Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2058255A1] The device i.e. vibrating table (1), has a table (7) supported in a base frame (3) for accommodating goods. The table vertically moves by length-adjustable set-up agents (4-6). The table is supported in regions in the agents, where the regions are arranged at a distance from each other. Each agent is rigidly connected to the frame and pivotably supported in the table. The agent (4) is exclusively pivotably supported in the table. The agent (5) is supported with a degree of freedom of movement in the table. The agent (6) is supported with two degrees of freedom of movement in the table.
