Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2058256A1] The device i.e. vibrating table (1), has a base frame comprising a table (3) for receiving goods, a rear stop (13) and two lateral stops (14, 15) that are arranged along a side portion of the table. The table is displaced by a vibration movement, and is tilted in a direction of the rear and lateral stops. The stop (15) is movable between a stop position and a non-stop position. The table comprises a table part at a side that is turned away from the rear top. The table part is movable between a support position and a non-support position, relative to a main table part.
