Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2065335A1] The method involves displacing a gas i.e. carbon dioxide, using a liquid out of a container (2) i.e. bottle, through a return gas path i.e. return gas tube (9), and cleaning the return gas path by blowing off the gas. Deviations from a predetermined process sequence are determined, and process parameters of filling operation and quality assurance criteria i.e. filling level, are determined. A filling end in the filled container is determined.
