Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2070432A1] The shoepack (20) has a recess (22) closed by a tongue (21) movable in rotation around an axis (23) positioned towards front of the shoepack and extending from the axis until a lower zone of a leg. A protection element is connected to a medial edge of the tongue and a medial edge (24) of the shoepack and vertically extended in a zone at a level of bottom of the leg. The protection element is arranged to represent an amplitude movement limitation to front of the tongue. An independent claim is also included for a sport shoe comprising a comfort element including a rubber and/or a flexible plastic material and/or tissue and/or foam.
