Abstract (en)
A bracket for mounting a radiator on a wall comprises an anchorage rail (1) and first (10) and second engagement members. The anchorage rail (1) is fixedly secured on the wall, and the engagement members (10) cooperate with the radiator or an anchorage disposed thereon. The first engagement member (10) is movable and spring-biased towards the second engagement member. The spring-biasing takes place by spring means (13) comprising a compression spring disposed inside the first engagement member (10).
